01 — SITE ARCHITECTURE

Site Map & Navigation

The old site had 9 flat top-level nav items with no grouping logic, content duplicated across pages, and 3-click-deep navigation to reach a single floor plan. The new structure is flat, logical, and conversion-led. Every primary page is reachable in one click from the nav.

Primary Navigation (7 items)

Page	Purpose
Home	Brand entry point. Hero, 3 pathways, process teaser, social proof, CTA.
About	Tim's full story, credentials, mission, team values. NOT a duplicate of home.
Our Process	End-to-end build journey + services. Replaces the thin Services page.
Designs	Three series (Considered, Bespoke, Realisation). Properly browseable.
Projects	Renamed from Gallery. Visual case study grid with filter tabs.
Blog	Content hub. Category-filtered blog listing.
Contact	Enquiry form + contact details. One clear conversion page.

What Was Removed & Why

Guarantee (standalone nav item)

Creates negative first impression. Content absorbed into About and Contact pages as trust signals.

Knockdown / New Builds (separate nav items)

Consolidated under Our Process as service rows. Reduces nav clutter without losing content.

Duplicate About / Home content

About page fully rewritten with distinct content. Home teases; About delivers the full story.

Designs > Considered > Cove27 (3 levels deep)

Designs Sub-Structure

The Designs page contains all three series on one page with anchor navigation. No separate sub-pages required — the Considered Series shows a card grid inline. Bespoke and Realisation are service description blocks with enquiry CTAs, not design libraries.

/designs	Anchor: #considered	Anchor: #bespoke	Anchor: #realisation
Designs landing	Card grid of floor plans	Custom service description + CTA	Build-only service description + CTA

Projects Sub-Structure

Six existing projects: Tasman, Lorraine, Gumflats, Kananook, Bonbeach, Thames. Each becomes a full-page case study (or a rich card in the grid with expandable content). Filter tabs: All | Knockdown Rebuilds | New Homes. Add more as builds complete.

Brand & Tone Guide

Positioning

Crowncon is the SE Bayside family's choice for a boutique custom home builder who is genuinely invested in your journey — from the first sketch to the day you move in.

Target Audience

Primary

Families in SE Bayside Melbourne (Seaford, Carrum Downs, Rye, Bonbeach, Chelsea, Frankston corridor). Household income $120K–$300K+. Research-heavy decision-makers. Key concern: will the builder deliver what they promised?

Secondary

Property investors planning unit/townhouse development. First-home buyers using existing land. Architects and designers seeking a reliable D&C; partner.

Tone of Voice

Warm, expert, honest. Personal without being casual. Confident without being boastful.

Principle	Do say	Don't say
Confident, not boastful	"We consistently deliver."	"We're the best builder in Melbourne."
Personal, not casual	"I'll walk you through every stage personally."	"Hey! Let's chat about your dream home!"

Expert, not jargon-heavy	"We engage early so your budget is locked in before you commit."	"Our pre-construction methodology synergises deliverables."
Warm, not saccharine	"Building a home is a big deal. We treat it that way."	"We LOVE building forever homes for amazing families!!!"

Key Differentiators

- Builder at the design table from day one — budget reality before commitment
- Real-time budget transparency throughout the pre-construction process
- Sub-contract period completions (Tasman: 360m² delivered in 7 months)
- Personal access to Tim (Director) — not handed off to a project manager
- Gallerie design studio partnership for interior selections — a hard-to-replicate offer
- Complimentary interior design consult included in the build process

Colour Palette

Inspired by the natural tones of SE Bayside Melbourne — deep ocean navy, coastal sand, weathered timber brass, and the warm limestone of the region's homes.

Typography

Three typefaces. Each has a distinct role — they are not interchangeable.

Typeface	Source	Character	Usage
Playfair Display	Google Fonts — Free	Serif, premium, editorial	All H1/H2/H3 headings and hero titles. Never for UI or body copy.
Inter	Google Fonts — Free	Clean geometric sans-serif	Navigation, body copy, labels, buttons, forms. The default for everything else.
Cormorant Garamond	Google Fonts — Free	Elegant editorial serif	Pull quotes, client testimonials, hero tagline. Always italic. Sparingly.

TYPE SCALE

Role	Size	Weight	Usage
Hero Title	clamp(2.5–4.5rem)	700 Bold	Homepage H1
Page Title H1	3–4rem	700 Bold	Page hero headings
Section H2	2–3rem	700 Bold	Main section titles

Body Copy	1rem / 16px	400 Regular	Standard paragraphs

UI Labels	0.72–0.85rem	600–700	Nav, buttons, section tags
-----------	--------------	---------	----------------------------

Visual Rules

Backgrounds

Warm White (#F8F5F0) as default. Alternate sections with Off White (#F0EBE4). Deep Navy for hero sections and CTA blocks. Never pure white or pure black.

Photography

Real project photography only — no stock images. Projects should show architecture, interiors, and lifestyle moments. Tim on-site photos reinforce the personal brand.

Imagery style

Cinematic, natural light, high quality. Warm tones that complement the sand/navy palette. No bright over-saturated editing.

Spacing

Max content width 1280px. Standard section padding 6rem top/bottom. Components breathe — never crowded.

Icons

Simple line icons at 1.5rem in a 48x48px Warm White container. Consistent stroke weight throughout.

HERO SUB-HEADLINE

Tim Swindon — Domestic Builder Unlimited, Crowncon Homes

FULL BIO (TIM)

My love for building started young — running concrete and mixing mortar on sites before I was old enough to drive. Those early years taught me that a great home isn't just built with materials. It's built with communication, honesty, and a genuine care for the family who'll live in it.

Fast forward to today, and that belief is the foundation of everything Crowncon does. Since 2017 we've built homes across SE Bayside Melbourne — custom homes, knockdown rebuilds, and developments — and every single one has had Tim Swindon personally involved from first conversation to handover.

We're a small, deliberately sized team. That's intentional. It means you'll never be handed off to a project manager you haven't met. It means Tim answers the phone. It means your home gets the attention it deserves.

When I'm not on-site, I'm usually with my wife Simone and our boys — or out on the trail. I trekked to Everest Base Camp with Simone a few years back. Anyone who's completed that route will tell you: the planning matters as much as the doing. Building a home is no different.

— Tim Swindon, Director

MISSION STATEMENT

"We are committed to building new forever homes that enhance family lifestyles. We make the building journey seamless, transparent, and genuinely enjoyable — because we believe that every family deserves an architecturally inspired home delivered with honesty and care."

THREE COMMITMENTS

1. Transparency — You'll know your budget before you're committed. We bring pricing into the conversation early, not after the design is finalised.
2. Communication — Tim personally responds within 24 hours. Every project has a clear point of contact and a clear schedule. No radio silence.
3. Quality Assurance — Premium supplier partnerships, rigorous site supervision, and a track record of on-time delivery. We don't cut corners on the details that make a home feel like a home.

ABOUT CTA

Heading: Let's start a conversation.

Sub: A 30-minute chat costs nothing. It might save you months of uncertainty about what's possible on your block.

CTA: Book a Free Consultation →

Imagery Direction

Hero: Tim on-site — hard hat, plans, genuine action. Not posed. Bio section: Tim portrait (approachable, confident, not corporate). Editorial moments: handover photo with clients, Tim with young family on-site, Everest Base Camp (earns its place here — shows character and resilience). Avoid stock photography on this page entirely.

10 — UX & CONVERSION NOTES

UX & Conversion Notes

These notes apply site-wide and should be implemented across every page. They are not page-specific — they are architectural decisions about how the site behaves.

Sticky Floating CTA

A sticky 'Book a Free Chat' button is fixed to the bottom-right of every page on desktop, and a full-width sticky bar on mobile. This ensures the primary conversion action is always accessible without requiring the user to scroll to a CTA section. The button has a subtle pulsing dot indicator on mobile to draw attention.

Navigation Behaviour

State	Behaviour
Default (over hero)	Fully transparent — white logo and text visible over hero image.
Scrolled	Deep Navy (#1C2B3A) background with blur. Smooth 0.3s transition.
Mobile	Hamburger icon. Full-screen slide-in overlay with all links stacked vertically.
Phone number	Always visible on desktop nav. Format: 03 8737 9416 — not a raw tel: protocol string.

Trust Signal Architecture

High-value purchase decisions require layered trust. Trust signals are distributed throughout the page journey:

Immediate (hero)	5-star rating with review count
Below fold (trust bar)	DB-U licence number, ACN, Est. 2017
Mid-page	Three detailed client testimonials with full name, suburb, project type
Mid-page	Premium supplier partner logos (Caesarstone, Fisher & Paykel, Smeg etc.)

Services page	Inclusions guide download — demonstrates expertise and transparency
Throughout	Real project photography — no stock images
Footer	Licence number, ACN, copyright — reassurance at every exit point

Mobile Experience

50–60% of home builder website visitors arrive on mobile. Design mobile-first:

- Navigation collapses to hamburger with full-screen slide-in overlay
- Hero becomes single-column — stats grid hides, headline and CTA remain prominent
- All card grids collapse to single column below 768px
- Touch targets minimum 44px height for all interactive elements
- Form fields use correct input types: tel for phone, email for email (triggers correct keyboard)
- Sticky CTA becomes full-width bottom bar on mobile
- Viewport meta must allow user zoom — no user-scalable=no (WCAG requirement)

SEO Priorities

- Unique, keyword-rich meta title per page — e.g. 'Custom Home Builder SE Bayside Melbourne | Crowncon Homes'
- Unique meta description per page (150 chars, include target suburb and service type)
- LocalBusiness schema markup with address, phone, hours, service area
- Review schema markup for Google rich snippet star ratings
- Alt text on all images — describe the project, location, and type
- Blog content targeting: 'knockdown rebuild [suburb]', 'custom home builder [suburb]'
- Google Business Profile fully optimised and linked to website

Critical Bug Fixes (Before Launch)

The following bugs exist on the current live site and must be resolved before or during the redesign:

CRITICAL	Nav typo: 'Servies' → 'Services'
CRITICAL	Logo href doubled: /crowncon.com.au → https://crowncon.com.au
CRITICAL	Privacy Policy & Terms link to example.com — create real policy pages

CRITICAL	Viewport meta blocks user zoom on About and Services pages — remove user-scalable=no
IMPORTANT	Phone displays raw tel:87379416 text in nav — format as '03 8737 9416'
IMPORTANT	Body copy: 'Some of out long term' → 'our'
IMPORTANT	All pages share same meta title 'crowncon homes' — fix per-page
IMPORTANT	No meta descriptions on any page

Conversion Architecture Summary

Every page has a clear primary and secondary conversion action. The hierarchy from most to least friction:

1st — Primary	Book a Free Consultation	Every page hero, every CTA section, sticky floating button
2nd — Secondary	Phone call	Always visible in nav, trust bar, footer, CTA sections
3rd — Tertiary	Download Inclusions Guide	Services/Process page lead magnet — lower intent, captures researchers
4th — Passive	Blog / education	For visitors in research phase — not ready to enquire yet
